TOPIC

Dental Radiology

There are more than 50 shades of grey...

CONTENT : How to take good X-rays. How to be safe when taking them and how to ensure you get the information you need. A brief review of general anatomy and normal anatomical variation and a session on radiographic interpretation. We welcome people to submit a radiograph to review, deadline a week before the seminar. First in best dressed due to time limitations. Send radiograph to: henkp@aaerc.com.au

OUTCOME : Practitioners will gain 2 hours of structured CPD (a scarcity in viral times). You can expect to leave knowing what constitutes a good dental radiograph and understand normal anatomy and common variations of this. You will learn how to get better views when the patients anatomy is making your life hard and leave with some tips and hints on how to identify pathology.

BONUS: Thoughts from a new dentistry intern - a glimpse of that period when you change professional focus...

Dr Kirsten Hailstone

Dr David Porublev

Kirsten completed her veterinary degree in 1986 at Murdoch University. She has worked in, owned and managed small animal practices since that time. In 2019 she credentialed in small animal veterinary dentistry with the AVDC under the mentorship of Dr David Clarke BVSc, DAVDC, FAVD, MANZCVS. She is currently working as the registrar in veterinary dentistry at AAERC.

David undertook his veterinary degree at Adelaide University finishing as part of the first class of graduates in 2013. For the last 6 years he has worked in small animal general practice where he developed a keen interest in dentistry. He joined the dentistry team at AAERC earlier this year as an intern for Dr Hailstone.
